

This is a test for icons. This icon uses the `` tag.

This is an icon using SVG. This is a standard SVG, not an SVG Sprite, as some browsers do not support SVG Sprite.

This is another SVG icon. This time I wanted to try centering the entire element. I also changed the fill color, stroke color, and overflow to present the entire icon border.

My name is William Lewandowski.

I am a returning student at MSUM, pursuing my second Bachelor's degree.

My boyfriend's name is Jeremy.

Jeremy is going to Boston University to get his Master's in Computer Science.

We make a great duo.

Being with Jeremy, I couldn't be happier!!

A Bootstrap Box

"By the end of the unit, I had them write an essay and create a video documentary discussing identity. Some interviewed people. You could be completely creative, as long as you addressed: What role do you think colorism plays in your life? And how would you describe your identity? Some of them went with culture, some of them went with race, some of them identified with a job" (Delpit, 115).

Not Bootstrap Box

"By the end of the unit, I had them write an essay and create a video documentary discussing identity. Some interviewed people. You could be completely creative, as long as you addressed: What role do you think colorism plays in your life? And how would you describe your identity? Some of them went with culture, some of them went with race, some of them identified with a job" (Delpit, 115).