overflow-visible

Once upon a time, there were three little pigs. The pigs lived in a small house with their mum. One day, their mum sent them off to build houses of their own.

As they walked down the road, the first little pig met a farmer pulling a cart of straw. It looked very warm - just right for building a house. He asked if he could have some. The farmer agreed and the first little pig began to build his straw house.

A little way down the road, the second little pig saw a woodcutter with a cart of sticks. They looked thick and long - just right for building a house. He asked if he could have some. The woodcutter agreed and the second little pig began to build his wooden house.

Travelling

I absolutely love travelling. I've been to many states including Michigan, Louisiana, New York, and California. I have also been to London, Paris, Venice, and Frankfurt, to name a few. My next big destination in Hawaii with my sweetheart, Jeremy.

Non-Clickable Link (pe-none)

If you want to go to my portfolio to see all my teaching materials, lesson plans, notes, and more, head over to the link above and explore!

This Bootstrap class may be useful for navbar when user is already on the specific page that the link would direct them to, as you won't want to have a link again to the same page. This will also help with accessibility of the website.

Remember for this one, you need to have three different pieces to make work correctly:
tabindex="-1" aria-disabled="true" class="pe-none"

Clickable Link (pe-auto)
